North-55 have pleasure in inviting you to attend the Engage colloquium and the premier screening of the Latitude film in Malin, Inishowen, Co.Donegal.

The Engage colloquium will draw on local, national and international contributors to promote discussion on a range of socially engaged arts practices addressing issues of marginalisation, civic participation and post-conflict society. This will provide an interface and catalyst for dynamic interaction in keeping with North-55's ethos of exchange and connection between artists, community development sector workers, local communities and non-traditional arts audiences.

Engage contributors include:

Bonita Bennett (District Six Museum, Cape Town),
Marie Barrett (North-55), John Peto (The Nerve Centre), Micaela Martegani (MORE ART, New York),
Fiona Whelan (Visual artist, Dublin), Kevin Murphy (Voluntary Arts Ireland), Annette Patton (Inishowen Development Partnership).

The Latitude film traces community displacement and socio-cultural dividing lines along three cross-border rivers the Blackwater, the Erne and the Foyle. The film is both layered and abstract, moving visually into these underwater terrains creating a dialogue 'above' and 'below' the waterline.
